

PLANNING FACT SHEET

Advertising Signage

Why we need controls on advertising signage

Council needs to regulate advertising signs and associated structures to

- avoid negative visual impact
- ensure there are no potential safety issues
- ensure consistency and fairness for people who wish to erect signage

Permits for signage required under our planning scheme

Under the Murrindindi Planning Scheme there are four different categories of advertising signs

- Category 1 – Commercial areas
- Category 2 – Office and industrial areas
- Category 3 – High amenity areas
- Category 4 – Sensitive areas

The zoning of your property determines which category will apply.

Each category is divided into

- Section 1 - Permit not required
- Section 2 - Permit required
- Section 3 - Prohibited

Details are available from Clause 52.05 of the Murrindindi Planning Scheme which is available here or by contacting Council's Planning Unit on (03) 5772 0333.

If you are thinking of putting up any signage, please contact Council to check whether you need a planning permit to do this.

Other factors which may influence the level of control on your signs

If there is another control affecting the land, e.g. a Heritage Overlay, then the more stringent control will apply.

Exemptions

Some signs, such as traffic signs, and 'For sale' signs located on the land for sale, do not require a planning permit. Size restrictions may apply.

The need to apply for a permit

We know the controls relating to advertising signage in the Murrindindi Planning Scheme are complex, so it is important that you understand what your requirements are before you erect and display advertising signage.

We encourage you to check with the Planning Unit by emailing planning@murrindindi.vic.gov.au, or calling (03) 5772 0333 or to ensure you avoid any penalties that may apply for displaying signage illegally .

Decision guidelines for permit approval

The following guidelines will be used to decide whether a permit is to be approved, so please try to address these in your application

- character of the area
- impacts of the signage on views and vistas
- relationship to the streetscape, setting or landscape
- relationship to the site and building on which signs will be erected
- impact of structures associated with the sign
- construction, design and quality of signs
- impact of any illumination onto adjoining land or roadways
- need for identification
- impact on road safety

Referral to Department of Transport (formerly VicRoads)

An application to display an animated or electronic sign within 60 metres of a freeway or arterial road declared under the Road Management Act 2004, must be referred to the Road Corporation (- Department of Transport). Council must comply with the VicRoads decision when considering the planning application.
